

Hello my DAISY LIST readers,

POST 2019-00

*"Once I overcame Breast Cancer, I wasn't afraid of ANYTHING ANYMORE."
Melissa Etheridge*

For this Post, I wanted to share some positive and uplifting words about BREAST CANCER month. I couldn't think of anything more appropriate than this story.

In a previous post, Post 2017-21, I told you about Missouri as a Thriving Survivor. On October 5, 2019, I attended her production of STYLETAINMENT The Show, A Cancer Survivor's Story based on her journey through and then surviving Breast Cancer.

This was Missouri's 7th presentation of the show, and I have to declare that it is now BROADWAY READY!

Mother/Daughter (Kyra)Duo – Missouri's son in the background

Being self-employed, during her cancer battle Missouri became practically homeless. However total strangers stepped in, and became her advocates in EVERY way possible. Housing, finances, transportation, but most of all tender loving health care. During that time, she spent hours contemplating how to give back.

Missouri understood the care and comfort she was receiving was a major factor in her recovery. She vowed to find a way to give back. It was at that time that 2 Dreams began to formulate.

First was to get well and use her God given talent to robustly pursue her long standing Dream of producing a unique Broadway show of; song, dance, fashion and ART.

The second part of her dream was to find a way to start a project called

“A PLACE CALLED HOME” -APCH

This project would become her “give back”

For Missouri, STYLETAINMENT is a means to an end. She wants her story to inspire HOPE, and motivate others to hang onto the belief that GREAT things can happen post Cancer.

She has a never give up attitude but it requires an enormous amount of faith. She’s clearly doing what she loves, however she wants it to reach millions of people going through similar struggles, so they can understand that battling cancer is by no means the end.

Never give up on something that you can’t go a day without thinking about.

Winston Churchill

Although STYLETAINMENT The Show A Cancer Survivor’s Story is available for private bookings, every year Missouri schedules a Special performance in New Jersey for Breast Cancer Awareness month. For that show in particular she makes an effort to honor other Breast Cancer Survivor’s by having them participate in the show, share their stories, while creating an everlasting bond that uplifts them to live their dreams out loud and inspires them to never give up.

The face of someone that understands the need to promote
Breast Cancer Awareness

I'm hoping by now everyone on the planet knows
OCTOBER is

Breast Cancer Awareness month

I'm hoping in the next few years we can change it to

Breast Cancer Eradication month
