HONORING BREAST
CANCER SURVIVORS

Celebrating Life

OCTOBER 12, 2024
DELTA MARRIOTT HOTEL
SOMERSET, NEW JERSEY

Welcome

THANK YOU FOR JOINING US

Thank you for joining us for our 4th Annual GALA. It is an absolute pleasure to have you here, sharing in the warmth and joy of this remarkable event. Tonight, we come together not only to revel in the glitz and glamour but to pay tribute to the incredible resilience and strength embodied by our extraordinary Breast Cancer Survivors.

This GALA is more than just a glamorous affair; it is a manifestation of the values that define us at STYLETAINMENT. We are not merely a production company crafting extraordinary experiences; rather, it is an integral part of our identity. Our work is inspired by the unwavering determination never to give up, to triumph over adversity, and to celebrate life in all its forms.

Honoring the lives of our remarkable ladies, our Breast Cancer Thriving Survivors, is a privilege that goes beyond the surface. It is an acknowledgment of their courage, their journeys, and the indomitable spirit that propels them forward. Recognizing their strength and resilience is not just an event; it is a reflection of our commitment to celebrating the human spirit.

At STYLETAINMENT, we believe in the power of honoring people while they are alive. It's about seizing the opportunity to express gratitude, admiration, and love in the present moment. Tonight, as we gather in this enchanting atmosphere, let us collectively appreciate the beauty of life and the strength within each of us.

STYLETAINMENT is more than an entertainment provider; it is a catalyst for inspiration. We hope that the stories shared and the moments celebrated tonight ignite a spark within each of you. Our aspiration is for you to leave this gala not only entertained but also inspired to take that leap, to overcome challenges, and to soar toward your dreams.

So, let this evening be a reminder that life is a grand stage, and each one of us has a unique part to play. May the spirit of celebration and resilience cultivated here tonight inspire you to embrace life with renewed vigor, to jump beyond your comfort zone, and to live your dreams now.

Once again, thank you for being a part of this extraordinary celebration. Here's to the indomitable spirit of our Breast Cancer Thriving Survivors and to a future filled with boundless possibilities.

Sincerely,

MISSOURI The Visionary

OUR MISSION

Creating extraordinary experiences to honor, celebrate and uplift women who have triumphed over breast cancer, while offering support to homeless women facing the same challenges.

Providing a feeling of love and gratitude as we work towards empowering our communities.

THE MEANING OF GALA

Gratitude (the quality of being thankful; readiness to show appreciation for and to return kindness)

Aspiration (a hope or ambition of achieving something)

Legacy (the long-lasting impact of particular events, actions, etc. that took place in the past, or of a person's life)

Awakening (an act or moment of becoming suddenly aware of something)

IN HONOR OF

AWARENESS

FOR Life

TAKE CARE OF YOU.

DON'T DELAY YOUR MAMMOGRAM.

Did you know there are thousands of women who are currently being treated for breast cancer, but are homeless, stressed and struggling to meet their day-to-day living expenses and losing their lives?

What if there were "A Place Called LOVE" for homeless women going through breast cancer treatments to live, at no cost to them?

Would you support it?

Celebration Of Life Annual, Inc. is a 501 (c)(3) non-profit organization. A Place Called LOVE, (APCL), is our primary community project and our goals are to provide a beautiful home with an eco-friendly environment where homeless women going through breast cancer treatments can stay, be taken care of, nurtured, educated and prepared to return back to society self-reliant, sufficient and able to live a quality lifestyle.

APCL will offer support to enhance healing and give our ladies an opportunity to release stress in a serene environment with unconditional love, honor and respect!

DONATE TODAY

VIA ZELLE:

apclhome@gmail.com

This GALA is our primary annual fundraiser, our goal is to raise $15,000.00. To date we have raised: $3,960

Our goal this evening is to raise $11,860.00

A special "Thank You" to those who have donated prior to this GALA to support our vision of opening A Place Called Home.

“Bringing my mother’s vision and designs to life onstage is quite amazing. My favorite scene is All About Me and probably not for the reasons you are thinking. Yes, it is super fun to twirl and whip those capes around. Yes, I love the reaction we get from the crowd whenever, wherever we performed that scene. Yes, the colors are so vibrant it makes me smile every time I see them fly in the air. However, none of those reasons are why it is my favorite. It is my favorite because it has a significant meaning to my mom. You see, back in the ‘80s before The Show, before cancer, even before me, my mom traveled and made a living off of 7 CAPES, very similar to what you see today. She had the vision then but got sidetracked with life and kids. Sharing All About Me today just feels like we are picking up where she left off. It’s as if no time has passed and we don’t plan on stopping anytime soon!” - Says Head Choreographer, Kyra Shanae

Celebrating individuals while they are alive allows us to express our appreciation, gratitude, and love directly to them. It provides an opportunity to acknowledge their positive qualities, accomplishments, and the impact they've had on our lives.

Celebratory moments become cherished memories. By celebrating people while they are alive, we contribute to creating a reservoir of positive memories that can be a source of comfort and joy for both the individual and those who celebrate with them.

In essence, celebrating the lives of people while they are alive is a meaningful and affirming practice that contributes to the well-being of individuals and the communities they are a part of. It adds richness to life, enhances relationships, and creates a more positive and supportive social fabric.

Hattie Smith

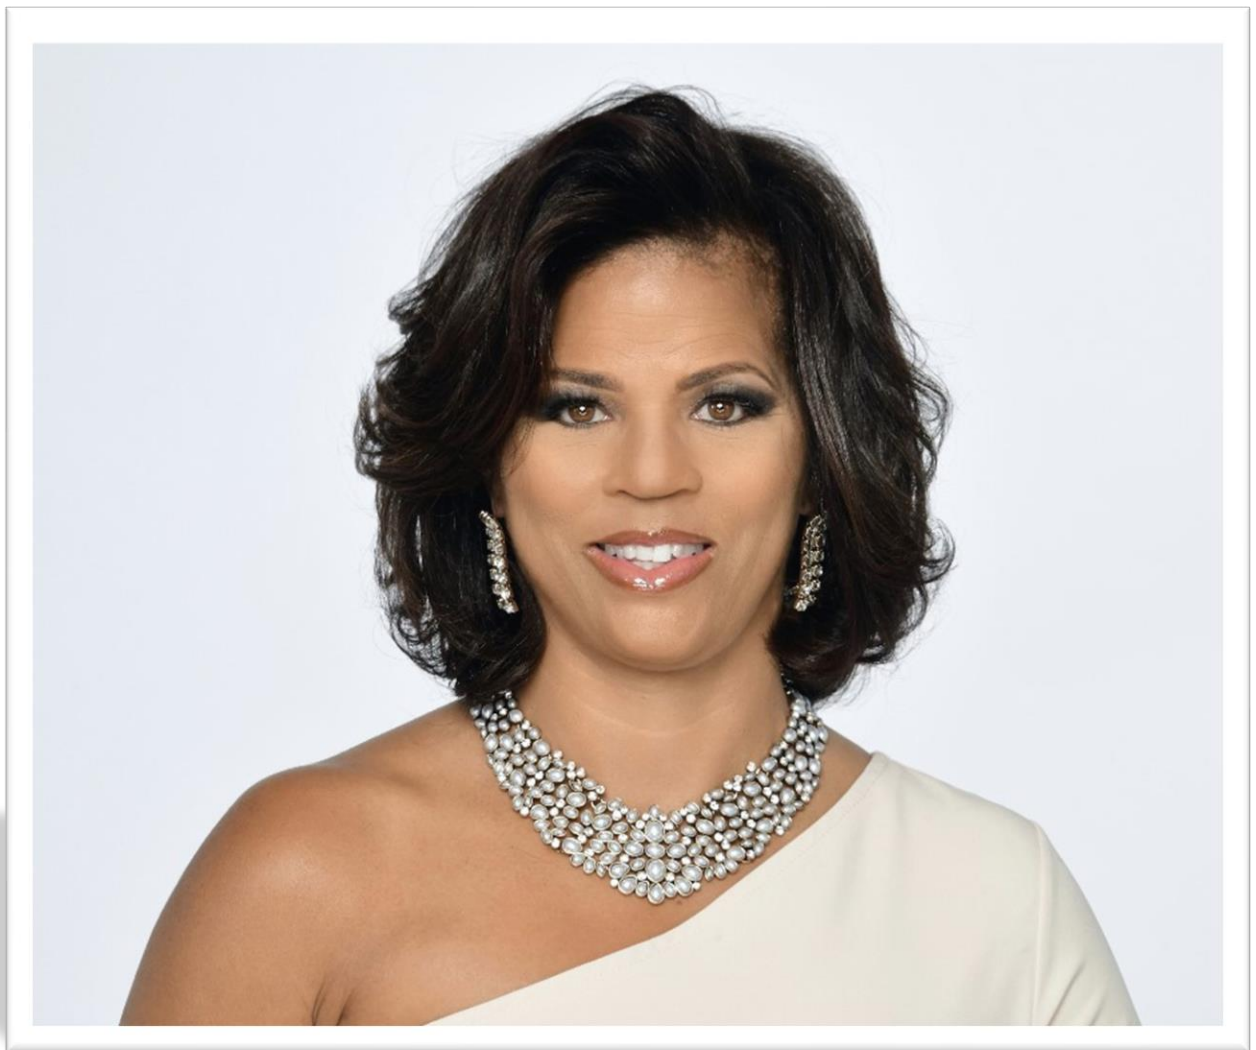

HATTIE SMITH'S JOURNEY

Hattie Smith is a two-time breast cancer thriver. Her connection to her community and faith has helped mold her into the inspiring individual she is today. So much so that she's created her own business, 'Hattie's Inspirational T-Shirts,' better known as HITS, to help spread breast cancer awareness and connect it to the Word of God.

Hattie is a New Jersey native, born to Doris and Charles Pendleton, and is the fifth youngest of seven siblings. She has been in Bucks County, PA for over thirty years with her husband, Gary, who she calls her ROCK. Hattie has been blessed with three beautiful daughters, Tanesia, Jasmin, and Camille.

Hattie's mantra is 'know your body,' when you feel like something is off, go to the doctor, if they say nothing's wrong; go get a second opinion. When Hattie was initially diagnosed with breast cancer 19 years ago, if she didn't get a second opinion, she would definitely have been enduring some sort of treatment that she didn't necessarily need.

Hattie had a new diagnosis eight years ago in January 2016 that was more aggressive than her first diagnosis. She is grateful to God for the wisdom that He gave her to do her research and understand what she was facing, and truly believes that He was with her every step of the way through the chemotherapy, radiation, and reconstruction surgery.

Tania T.

TANIA T'S JOURNEY

Ms. Tania Ellerbe-Turner, better known as “Tania T.” Tania returns tonight as one of our former honorees; at our first GALA in 2021 she was recognized as a 3-year Breast Cancer Survivor.

Tania is the mother of two thriving young adults (Faith, 23, and Chandler, 20). She is also a seasoned corporate professional, currently a Pharmaceutical Commercial Sales Director who is adept at building winning teams, creating safe environments for people to thrive, and producing optimal performance. She's a five-year Breast Cancer Survivor, Life Strategy and Empowerment Coach, and Cancer Advocate, who is dedicated to enhancing the PINK community's experiences.

Tania's cancer journey inspires holistic wellness and giving back. A lump led to Tania's bilateral mastectomy, revealing blessings after struggle. This is when she was introduced to Life Strategies coaching and through this she has learned humility, resilience, and courage. Now as a certified Life Strategist and Empowerment coach, Tania empowers women through MIND, BODY, and Soul alignment, fostering transformation. She assists her clients in realizing their worth and power.

Tania T. excels on stage, hosting diverse events from corporate conferences to fundraisers. Her connection with Cancer celebrants is unmatched, extending beyond the spotlight. Tania's advice is: Life is an Inside Job; alignment matters. Through her cancer journey, she's learned to embrace the present and trust the plan.

Her warmth and professionalism shine, making her a crowd favorite and a perfect fit for hosting our 2023 Diamonds and Pearls GALA.

In honor of Missouri and her family we present the

Ada AWARD

1924 – 1982

Queen Ada Ann Watson-Hood, born on October 12, 1924, she emerged as the eldest among her siblings—two sisters and a brother. Transitioning from the South to the North during her early teens marked a significant chapter in her life.

Despite facing challenges, she bore a gentle yet determined spirit, possessing a remarkable ability to propel progress.

As an entrepreneur, she grasped the significance of nurturing INSPIRED DREAMS.

Missouri was born in Saint Michaels Hospital, Newark, New Jersey, on October 5, 1956 and is the third youngest of seven siblings, 1 sister and 5 brothers. God is the source of her life, her mother “Ada” is the force in her life and her children are the wind beneath her wings.

1965 a small beating heart became alive, a rebirth one would say, how fitting it would happen on Christmas day! – says the Story Teller.

It was 1965 when Missouri’s Mother, “Ada” gave her a Barbie Doll for Christmas. Using remnants from her mother’s sewing baskets, young Missouri designed and hand made her Barbie a complete wardrobe.

She proceeded to give her mother a cardboard runway fashion show on the dining room table, as she played gospel music in the background. “Mother loved gospel music.” – says Missouri

After the show she looked up at her mother and said, One day I am going to do a BIG Show.” Her mother patted her on the head and said, sure your will child...sure your will.

In that moment young Missouri could feel the electricity from her mother’s hand on her head and she knew one day she really would do the “BIG Show”...

Her mother INSPIRED and NURTURED THE DREAMER within her. Consequently, she evolved into a celebrated renowned fashion designer and visionary of STYLETAINMENT

In 2022, as a tribute to honor her mother, we launched the Ada Awards, recognizing an individual or couple whose impact on Missouri's life mirrors the uplifting influence of her mother.

Ada AWARD

ORDINARY WORDS  EXTRAORDINARY ACTIONS  INSPIRED DREAMS

A Life in Transformation, 10/24

I'm Victoria Zelin-Cloud. You can find my bio on LinkedIn, but here is my life in terms of some of the transformations, or paradigm shifts I've experienced. Each has opened me up to new levels of awareness, competence, compassion and satisfaction.

My first transformation was in The Landmark Forum, then called "the best training." I learned that, like everyone else, I had "a story" or interpretation about—well, everything!

At the time, I despised my dad and was hoping for a breakthrough. In listening to other people's complaints and realizing that they were trapped in their own "story," I had a flash of recognition. I saw my father newly and fell in love with him! Life changed dramatically. I was more curious than judgmental. After a lot of courses, training and practice, I was invited to join a small management consulting firm that licensed Landmark's work. I became a superstar at "enrolling" business leaders and was in heaven for many years.

Meanwhile, I met my husband, got married, had our daughter, and lived for 10 years in Ottawa, Canada. We moved back to NJ to be near the company's main office, but I couldn't recapture my passion for the job. When I left the company, they paid for a career coach, which led to my next transformation. My coach said that I was a master of sales! Since I had never seen myself as having a profession, let alone a sales career, this opened all kinds of possibilities. Sales was a good fit. I did well and was happy.

In 1998, I met Missouri at a Landmark event and hired her to upgrade my wardrobe. The process and the outcome transformed my life, my clothes, my mindset and even my aspirations. She dressed me so I looked like the straight shooter that I was, the confident woman who spoke truth to power.

In 1998, I met Missouri at a Landmark event and hired her to upgrade my wardrobe. The process and the outcome transformed my life, my clothes, my mindset and even my aspirations. She dressed me so I looked like the straight shooter that I was, the confident woman who spoke truth to power. I was sheik, elegant and more attractive than ever. This generated an upward spiral of accomplishments and satisfaction, to the pinnacle of my sales career, working for Deloitte, one of the most prestigious consulting firms in the world.

Over the last decade, our small nonprofit, Possible Planet, introduced and pushed through a transformative law in NJ. This fall, NJ's Economic Development Authority is implementing C-PACE (Commercial Property Assessed Clean Energy), making it profitable for commercial property owners to "go green" through an unprecedented financing program.

My most recent transformation is becoming a bioregionalism. Studying with Joe Brewer in his Design School for Regenerating Earth has shifted my thinking about how nature and community is the path for the human race to thrive, given climate change. My husband planted a food forest at our home in Rochester. I'd never have predicted it, but I went from never going outside to being delighted in observing nature, tending our fruit and nut trees, and planting native pollinator plants.

The Enlightened Journey of a Black, Flat, and Proud Woman

My journey of who I am as a breast cancer thriver has taken me on an enlightened path of self-awareness and growth, to one where I am now walking in the full bloom of my authenticity. I remember going into my GYN doctor's office in 2015 to hear the diagnosis that could not be relayed over the phone. "You have stage zero cancer!" What! To be completely honest with you, I never even knew there was a stage zero cancer diagnosis. After getting clarification and developing a plan of action with my oncologist, I had a lumpectomy and 33 treatments of radiation, which was the standard treatment for women rowing in my part of the water. After my treatment, I would not have to deal with THIS inconvenience anymore, especially now that I was well on my way to completing my dissertation and preparing for graduation, or so I thought. Through many prayers and heart-to-heart talks with my Lord, I moved through the treatment regiment, defended my dissertation, and graduated. However, if you want to make God laugh; make plans, which saw my cancer returning in the same breast less than a year after graduating with my Ph.D. Knowing that I did not want to have to go through the same cycle of treatment again, I elected to have both "Girls" removed, and have officially immersed myself in the "itty bitty no titty committee" for life or as I like to call myself a member of the "Flat Brigade."

I love walking in my authenticity and embracing the beautiful woman that I am, so much so that I have had the essence of who I am captured as art that lives and breathes where my "Girls" once proudly sat.

Ladies and Gentlemen, without further delay, it gives me great pleasure to introduce me; Audrey Redding-Raines, a Black, Flat, and Proud Woman! Thank you.

Breast Cancer Journey

I guess I'll start from the very beginning. I was out visiting my friend in Texas in January 2021, we had a couple drinks and I had admitted to her I had this weird feeling that I was going to get breast cancer and or I had already had it. My mom had had it about 10 years ago when she was 53. She asked me why and I would've never said the word, "aura" or "presence" in a sentence before pertaining to my life; but this is exactly, what it felt like over my left side of my upper body. I finally got the nerve to do a self-exam once I got home but not until April. I was too scared I would find something but the feeling kept getting stronger. To my dismay I did indeed find a round pea size lump on my left breast. I made an appointment with my GYN doctor and he did find two lumps, the one I also felt, but he indeed another my armpit. A mammogram followed, and then a biopsy. Troy my husband, was gone this week I was expected to receive results. He was hesitant to go, but I told him to go anyways. I remember where I was in the parking lot of the library with my two girls in the backseat 1 and 2 years old when she gave me the news. My initial consultation with the surgical oncologist I was hopeful I just needed surgery not chemo. Although I was told I do indeed need chemo as well, for the first time I lost, THIS made things real. Radiation was planned to follow.

June 1, 2021 was my first day of chemo, this was after a long 1.5-month egg retrieval process. At the time we weren't sure we were having any more kids or not so decided to have eggs frozen. Yet this was a long, exhausting and stressful process considering

I knew this was delaying my chemo start date. The anxiety of knowing the cancer was growing inside me riddled me with anxiety and insomnia every day.

I wanted to normalize my life as much as I could for my kids and my husband, so after a lot of thought, we opted to do cold caps and attempt to keep my hair through this process. Every three weeks Troy would drive 40 minutes away to go get dry ice for the caps. It was frigid and gave my husband a purpose in a world he felt helpless. The first chemo was alright, there was a lot of GI symptoms, anxiety, and fear of the unknown. Although, after my second treatment, I ended up at the hospital with a sustained heart rate of 35 bpm, weakness and elevated liver enzymes. They did a whole cardiac workup and monitored my labs daily. At the time I wasn't worried somewhat due to my medical background although I know everyone else was. My doctor recommended changing my regimen at that time which included a lot less side effects considering my insurance would pay for it now that I couldn't tolerate the first one. I remember a lot of bad leg and pain neuropathy and weakness; my legs would buckle when I would go down stairs. I also recall a lot of rashes, night itching, and weight loss.

I had the most amazing support system they had a food train going and would bring us meals each week and helped watch the kids. Looking back, I am not sure how we did it, we would have been even more of a mess without them. My husband had to drop out of MBA school early to help me through this. He was my rock and stayed positive 100% of the time. I finally completed surgery with exploratory lymph node dissection and double mastectomy with expanders placed October 2021 and had found out I had a total pathologic response which means they didn't find any cancer left over. There were many complications and infections after surgery, including a week stay at Fox Chase Cancer Center for IV antibiotics and removal of one expander for 5 months. I had one breast that was stretched for expansion for future placement of implants and one flat breast, I used a prosthetic device to cover this. The other expander was finally placed 4 months later which was followed by once-a-week saline fills with a large needle to stretch the skin till they could fit a small implant. It was a tautness to it plus sore a few days after each injection. Finally, July 2022 I had real implants placed. I had gotten 5 different opinions regarding radiation and it was a 50/50 split half saying I should get it and half saying I didn't need it considering how well the chemo worked. I opted out of doing radiation at the time considering this did come with a number of short- and long-term side effects. I finished my Herceptin in June 2022 having it for one year, this medication has harsh effects on the heart so continued cardiac echoes will continue through the next 5 years as well as 10 years of Tamoxifen. Tamoxifen is used to help reduce the risk of triple positive breast cancer from returning, this drug has side effects similar to going through menopause.

DIONNE GABBIDON'S JOURNEY

I was diagnosed with invasive ductal carcinoma, stage two breast cancer, on November 14th, 2022. It all began when I experienced sharp pains in my right breast. My gynecologist attributed it to my monthly cycle, but after feeling lumps in my breast, I requested a mammogram. Unfortunately, the script I received was incorrectly coded, and despite multiple requests for a new one, I was told it was "good enough" when it wasn't.

I sought a second opinion, and even though the doctor didn't feel anything, I insisted on getting the mammogram. After that, things escalated quickly: I was called for an ultrasound, followed by a biopsy. I was terrified. When the results came back positive for cancer, I rushed to my doctor's office, where he simply apologized, admitting he didn't think it was anything serious.

In shock, I knew I had to mentally prepare myself. I screamed, then immediately asked, "How do I get ahead of this? What can I do to beat cancer?" My first oncologist wasn't confident in my treatment plan, so I sought care at Memorial Sloan Kettering. Though I dreaded going to the cancer center, I knew I had to do what was necessary to get better.

I delayed starting chemo until my oncologist set a firm date, and I finally underwent surgery to have my port put in. I prayed, "Jesus, please get me through this journey. I want to live." After four months of chemo, two lumpectomies, 25 rounds of radiation, and countless medical appointments, I am proud to say I'm a cancer survivor. I'm determined to keep living and never let this diagnosis define me.

MILLIE DAWKINS'S, JOURNEY

I started having pain in my lower left breast in October 2022. I received a mammogram that showed two cysts and then was recommended to have an ultrasound. The cysts were then removed that same month. In May of 2023 the cysts had returned. This time on my ultrasound the results showed two abnormal lumps. These lumps were under the muscle of my breast and were not easily identified at the time due to dense breast tissue. My doctor then suggested that I have a biopsy performed. 2 weeks later it was diagnosed as Stage 3 Breast Cancer. My chemotherapy treatment began on June 18, 2023.

My first chemotherapy treatment was not an easy feat and was a difficult time for me. My treatments were initially once a month but then shifted to weekly. The dosage was too high for me and brought great sickness, my doctors then recommended that they lower my treatment. In July 2023 I was hospitalized for the first time due to low vitamin levels which was a reaction to the chemotherapy. Treatments were manageable for me as I continued to work full-time until October 2023, where I was once again hospitalized due to blood clots. My last two months of treatments made me very lethargic at times but I still remained optimistic about surviving this journey.

In December I received my final chemotherapy treatment. In January of 2024, under the advice of my doctors I went through a full mastectomy of my left breast. As of April 19th I completed my last radiation treatment and am grateful for another chance at life. I'm grateful for the support of my family and friends throughout this journey, especially my daughter Shavone.

SONIA GAWAS'S, JOURNEY

Sonia is married to Ram Sarma for 17 years. Sonia is also a 9/11 survivor losing her first husband of 9 months and her high school sweetheart Ganesh Ladkat. She is a stay-at-home mom to Aadi, Isha and 2 dogs. She is a longtime volunteer in her town, be it PTA/PTSA, Girl Scout, Boy Scout, sports team boosters, you name it she is involved in all. Sonia is also the Councilwoman of West Windsor in her 2nd term.

One day in July of 2023 Sonia felt a lump in her right breast. After several doctor visits, various scans, biopsies, she was diagnosed with Malignant neoplasm in her right breast on August 17th, 2023.

It came as a big shock as there is no family history of any Cancer. She had been very regular with her mammograms, and was in between her 2 scans. Many other hospital visits for various other scans to follow.

On Sept 13th, Sonia underwent Lymph node biopsy surgery, which resulted in removal of 3 lymph nodes and she was diagnosed further at Stage 2 with HER2+. Next 2 weeks are several doctor visits, various more scans. And after celebrating her son's 15th birthday on Oct 2nd, on Oct 4th she underwent port placement.

On Oct 12th, she started her journey of Chemotherapy, every 3 weeks for 6 sessions. She also chose to use the DigniCap therapy to help with the hair loss. Her sister Sophia Sangle and her soul sister Priti Umarkar took turns travelling from India to support her and her family.

After celebrating her daughter's birthday on March 9th, she undergoes yet another surgery on March 12th. This time it is the double Mastectomy. Her sister Sophia travels again from India this time with her daughter Durva to support Sonia and her family.

Sonia is doing well with her treatments. She still has one more post chemo infusion to go and then her reconstruction surgery is scheduled for November.

Ram a volunteer Firefighter put everything on back seat, his work travels, responding to fire calls, etc. and stood by Sonia and their children to move through this tough journey together. Sophia and Priti who dropped everything and travelled across seas. All the neighbors, friends and her community who surrounded Sonia and her family, made going through this journey a breeze.

While going through this journey, Sonia was up for reelection during 2023 election. And to all the efforts she has put in the Township, she was reelected without much of canvassing as she was in chemo.

EBONY ROBINSON TOONE'S, JOURNEY

My name is Ebony Robinson-Toone and I am a 15 year Breast Cancer Survivor. I was diagnosed at the age of 30. I remember calling my mother and telling her that I was in so much pain under my left armpit that I was unable to put my bra on. She kept telling me to go to the Doctor, but I kept resisting. I had just married my husband at the time, and he kept insisting that I go to the Doctor as well. A month later, I built up the courage to go to my gynecologist. After checking my breast, he found a lump under my armpit near my left breast. Immediately he sent me for testing but because of my age, my insurance wouldn't cover a mammogram because of my age. They stated that 30 is too young, you are required at age 40 to get routine mammograms. After my Doctor fought for me, 3 months later I received my first mammogram. I remember I received the news about having breast cancer in my left breast on April 1st, 2009. Stage 2. From that day forward, my life has totally changed. After receiving a mastectomy of my left breast, I had 6 rounds of chemotherapy.

Physically I didn't look like I felt and mentally I was a wreck. I was a newlywed with a 2-year-old daughter, only 30 years old, and I felt so distraught and confused. But with the help of my Mother, Father, sisters, husband, friends, and most importantly God, I made it through.

Having Breast Cancer was also a blessing. It taught me to never take life for granted. It also taught me to pay attention to my body, and to stay healthy, and to take care of myself. My Mother was always my biggest cheerleader, cheering me on to fight when there were days I wanted to give up. Last year life went full circle when I was cheering my Mom to keep going and never to give up. I wish she were here by my side now continuing to cheer me on, but God had other plans and took her home. It will be a year in August that she passed, but I'm going to keep my promise to her to continue living and staying healthy and keep up on all my checkups. I'm so blessed to be here today to share this story. No matter what insurance companies and Doctors tell you. Continue to advocate for yourself because I did and It saved my life.

FERLIE ALMONTE'S JOURNEY

My world was shaken and transformed following routine mammograms.

I had no lumps. What I had were microcalcifications. Its powdery nature makes it undetectable to touch. When those particles increased in number and lined up in the duct, the radiologist recommended a stereotactic biopsy. It was cancer. Triple positive. I bombarded my breast oncology surgeon with questions. One of them was "Doctor, how much down time are we looking here? Because I have a busy 2022" She laughed and said that she loves how positively distracted I was because 90% of my healing will come from positivity. I wasted no time. My mother died of ovarian cancer, so I did want to take any chances. I opted for double mastectomy with breast reconstruction, followed by twelve rounds of chemo, a year long immunotherapy by infusion, and a five year regimen of hormone therapy. I had a horrific allergic reaction to taxol used for my chemotherapy that sent me to the ER. I was switched to a different drug and I responded well. With God's grace and the love, care and support that surrounded me, I magnificently survived and thrived through chemo, immunotherapy, three surgeries, four hospitalizations, including one to Covid, and ongoing hormone therapy. I have accomplished so much in two years realizing life is short and fragile. I decided to live a life that's joyful, meaningful and impactful for others to learn from. I shared my weekly journey of treatments on social media. POSITIVITY through ADVERSITY was my constant mantra. My faith was intensified. My Resilience SuperPower was uncaged! I refused to let my diagnosis define me. I was determined to MAKE MY INSPIRING STORY MY LEGACY. So, after completing treatments, I competed in a pageant for the first time in my life, won and made history as the first Asian to win Ms. NJ Senior America in the pageant's 40 year history, finishing Top 5 out of 49 at the Nationals, published my fifth book, and got deeply involved in community service to exemplify that THERE'S HOPE AND BRIGHT LIFE AFTER CANCER. And we can CHOOSE TO MAKE OUR MESS OUR MESSAGE.

THE
Imani Williams

MY NAME IS IMANI TAHIRA, I AM THE PRODUCTION MANAGER AND CAST MEMBER FOR STYLETAINMENT. Our show is a visual manifestation of someone choosing to fight for life and pursue their true calling. The narrative is truly inspiring as it unfolds on stage.

It's a captivating and exhilarating survivor's story, keeping the audience's attention from start to finish. Each scene is unpredictable, providing a real-time sense of Missouri's journey from her perspective.

Personally, my favorite scene is "Wild Orchid" because it's mysterious, vibrant, and full of surprises. It feels like a declaration of self-confidence, a moment of blossoming that the world can't ignore.

Additionally, I am an active member of a dynamic community of real estate brokers and agents, driven by knowledge and founded on collaboration

Imani Williams

MY NAME IS DEVONNE JONES I AM THE HEAD DANCE CHOREOGRAPHER AND CAST MEMBER FOR STYLETAINMENT. What moves me about STYLETAINMENT is that it is a company that knows the potential it has and where that potential could lead to. It moves me because I can see it for myself in the way we work.

Not only that, but the greater focus is also to be a blessing to women who are homeless and living with and recovering from cancer. A lot of passion goes into every single detail to make the company what it is. I am so supportive because I believe my purpose and the purpose of STYLETAINMENT are in alignment. STYLETAINMENT The Show, A Cancer Survivor's Story is a "layered" production that does not really fit into a single category. It is a combination of theater, dance, music, poetry, and fashion with each element no more important than the other.

Additionally, she serves as the Dance Leader for the Liturgical dance ministry at Shiloh Baptist Church. In the corporate realm, she holds the position of an Account Manager at a prestigious company. Her strong belief is that with God, nothing is impossible.

THE PRESENTER

Atiba Page

She is a magnetic and energetic business agent that is highly sought-after by entrepreneurs, small business owners, Fortune 500 companies and community leaders who want to create healthy disruptions!

Currently Atiba & her smile are developing and facilitating disruptive & innovative diversity & inclusion programs and activities within the global market for Bristol Myers Squibb.

Her passion for identifying, building, and celebrating the potential she sees in others helped her plant the seed for Brown Gyrlyz Enterprise, and that seed blossomed on May 1, 2016.

Brown Gyrlyz Enterprise was created to help freethinkers design their individual “yellow brick road” to success! Atiba is ready to empower, inspire, and motivate the leader in YOU!

Diagnosed with Stage IV breast cancer in February 2019, Atiba has had over 100 doctor visits, 6 rounds of chemotherapy, over 30 rounds of radiation treatments, a single right mastectomy, and gamma knife & MRI thermal ablation brain surgery, within 2 years.

Atiba is thrilled to report she has NO EVIDENCE OF DISEASE (NED) since May 2020, and is praying for more time as a survivor!

Atiba enjoys lending her brand power as a messenger within many different organizations for Black & Brown women across the globe. Her new foundation Khronic Kutie’s was created to provide spiritual, mental, physical, and financial assistance to Khronic Illness Kutie’s of all ages across the globe!

Here is your chance to meet the black unicorn of business agents & global public speaking!

Are you ready for me?!

THE

Dorinda Francis-McKenzie

A survivor is someone who continues to function or prosper in spite of opposition, hardship, or setbacks according to the Random House Unabridged Dictionary. However, I don't consider myself to be a survivor because I endured a great ordeal. No, I am a survivor in spite of battling breast cancer while being a mother, wife, and full-time employee.

How could a 41 year old woman, who eats healthy and try's to exercise regularly be diagnosed with breast cancer?

It had to be a mistake. Well the answer is simple. Cancer, like all other conditions, knows no age, race, or gender. So on July 8, 2021, I had a decision to make. I could allow myself to be defined as a cancer patient or become a champion of hope for the next person. I chose the latter. Blessed with a supportive family, church-family, and friends, I did my homework. I asked questions and gave my battle to the only one who could see me through such a trying time. I stood on my faith in God as I disclosed the news to my daughters, family, and friends. Whether I was ready for it or not, cancer was here. It may have been in my body, but it didn't have my mind. It may have taken the doctors twice as long to perform my surgery and I may have had a few setbacks along the way, but I am here a year later.

Sheila Marie Johnson
Resilience and Representation

When it comes to health equity and breaking down systemic barriers to care in the metastatic breast cancer community, Sheila Johnson is an inspiration to us all. Not only has Sheila been living with metastatic breast cancer for 13 years, she is also a 25-year United States Air Force military veteran. Sheila has received 4 Air Force Meritorious Service medals, 7 Air Force Commendation Medals, and 4 Air Force Achievement Medals. These honors are a testament to her strength, commitment, and dedication to amplifying the presence and voices of black women. Sheila has demonstrated long-standing commitment to widening the discussion relating to racial disparities and health inequalities that exists for African Americans within the breast cancer community.

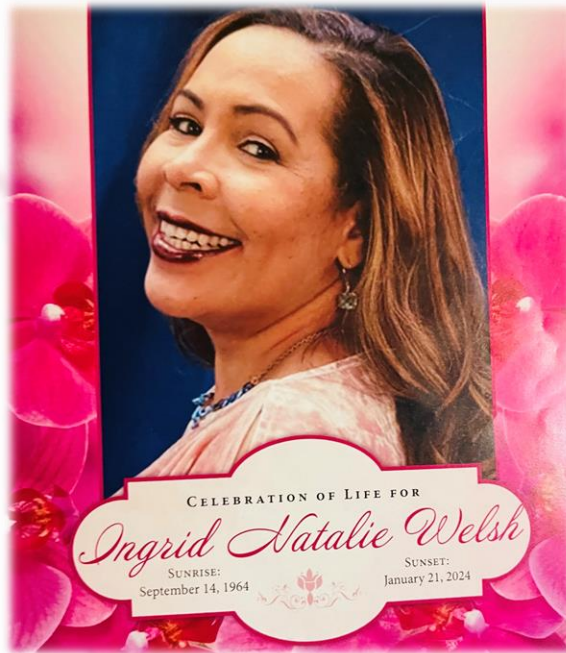

She is a mentor and guide for many black women, keen to break down barriers and create facilitators to care. Sheila provides exceptional levels of care and support for others from the African American and wider community who find themselves diagnosed with breast cancer.

Sheila works closely with the black community to ensure we have representation and are included in conversations relating to their diagnosis and treatment. Sheila has been a regular contributor to the discussions relating to breast cancer care and how to ensure competent and holistic care for those from underrepresented communities. An example of a project where Sheila led the focus on advocating for black women is the Metastatic Breast Cancer and the Count Me In Project. The project is an innovative patient-partnered cancer research project that aims to propel cancer research progress. Sheila's commitment to raising awareness surrounding breast cancer is further cemented in her role as Board Member for Breast Cancer Recovery, and her role as facilitator for Infinite Boundary Retreats. Sheila is now a published author of "A Survivor's Lens", A Metastatic Breast Cancer Survivor's Focus on God's Word and Faith. She also has a movie on BET+ about her 13 year journey with metastatic breast cancer called God's Grace, The Sheila Johnson Story.

Sheila's resiliency and energy are contagious, and she delivers excellence in all aspects of her life, personal and professional.

OUR DEAR SISTER, REST IN LOVE AND IN PEACE!

During the entire time that I have had the pleasure of knowing Ingrid, I've known her to be positive and proactive individual who possesses a caring heart for the well-being of others. Through her devout faith in Jesus Christ, she has overcome various physical challenges victoriously.

Ingrid's organizational skills are exceptional which is second only to her deep desire to encourage and inspire others to excel in their gifts and talents and be all that God has designed and created them to be for His glory.

Ingrid's passion and love for the Word of God is admirable because of her profound commitment to living a lifestyle that glorifies God and edifies people.

I am honored and humbled to have her as a sister in Christ and a genuine friend. You will be tremendously missed.

"Writing My Journey to STYLETAINMENT, A Life Stitched Together has been a healing for me in many ways. What I now see is the "ONE" was an instrument, to assist in writing the music to my songs, the words to my stories, the scripts to my plays, and the inspiration, drive and determination to move my life forward. The "ONE" was chosen to point me in the direction of my soul's journey.

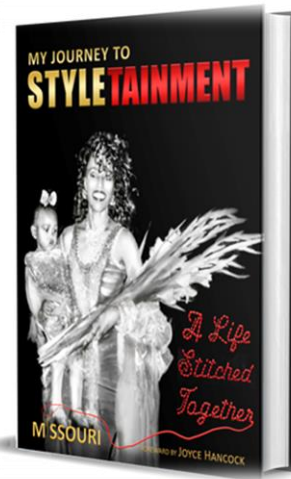

The fire still burns but it's a different kind of fire. The LOVE still lives inside of me, but my eyes are wide open and everything is crystal clear. When I look out that window I see a beautiful unscarred soul looking back; when I look out that window I see a woman standing in happiness and joy; when I look out that window I see the spirits of my Mother, my Grandma Jane, Mr. Shorty and my Godmother looking back smiling and saying, "All is well, you did good ...you're doing good, girl!" And that's ohhh such sweet music to my soul".

My hope is that the first and second editions of my books ignite the dreamer within you and elevate you to new heights, just as they did for me. Remember, this is your life, and regardless of who comes, stays, or leaves, never give up on yourself.
